- Alleviates classroom “brain-drain”

Last night a member of the local paparazzi was found dead in their downtown apartment. Police headquarters has since narrowed down the suspect list to eight, the possible weapons list to nine, and the likely crime scenes to six. It is now up to you, our volunteer CSI unit, to scour the city looking for evidence, motives, and informants. Clues are littered around town and we have special agents forwarding you new information as it comes in.

The Case of the Dead Paparazzi is a murder mystery scavenger hunt that takes place on the streets of downtown settings. Actors are stationed around town and teams of four compete on-foot by visiting possible crime scenes and deducing possibilities based on clues and intel from informants. The game features a myriad of problem solving, a cast of ridiculous characters, and a very entertaining premise. After two and a half hours of interviewing witnesses and investigating crime scenes, one team will be handsomely rewarded for their cunningness. Can your team successfully crack the case?
